

Safe-T-Lite

Here's another unusual type of cover that proved to be a fiscal flop. It comes with the tear-out tabs. These Universal Match Corp. covers, which were first introduced in 1949, normally don't carry the trademark name. You just have to be knowledgeable about what you're looking at!

Often referred to as Safety Tabs, Tear-Out Tabs, and Pull Tabs, the actual name is, in fact, SAFE-T-LITE.

John Williams, OH, maintained the listing on these covers. Last time I heard, there were 121 listed.