A New High In Collecting!

With more and more states legalizing marijuana for recreational use, one has to wonder if there will be at least a mini-boom in marijuana matchbook covers. After all, marijuana is normally smoked.

Alaska, Colorado, Oregon, Washington, Washington, D.C., California, and Massachusetts all currently have legalized marijuana (and, all, if I'm not mistaken, run by Democrats...except, of course Washington, D.C., and you could make a good argument for that, as well). A number of other states are planning to have the issue come up in future elections.

Warning! Editor's opinion > Whether or not the increase in new covers here materializes or not, personally, I think the whole situation is deplorable. The only reason states are legalizing marijuana is the politicians can see all that additional tax income. The NY Times has already run an article stating that the economies of those states will "crumble" if the Trump administration cracks down on the whole thing. This is another example of how 'incrementalism' makes all things possible, by the way.
